

Please leave Wisconsin's no-call list alone and DO NOT impose less restrictive federal rules. Banks and credit card companies were among the most annoying telemarketers before the no-call system went into effect in Wisconsin.

If I choose a business relationship with a bank, I am perfectly capable of choosing among other services that corporation may offer without being harrassed by intrusive phone calls. They can use direct mail, newspaper ads, bank lobby signage, etc. etc.